ROYAL ACADEMY BANQUET.

VALUE OF FINE ARTS TO A NATION.

LORD THOMSON DESCRIBES THE MODERN WARRIOR.

A MECHANICAL AGE.

A comparison between the modern warrior and his counterpart of forty years ago was made by Lord Thomson in a speech at the Royal Academy Banquet in London when he said the men of to-day had a different outlook and were capable of controlling their nervous system under particularly appalling circumstances. They were citizens who had adopted a great profession and were prepared and anxious to live up to their high calling.

London, May 4.
The banquet at the opening of the Royal Academy was held last night and there was the usual distinguished assemblage. Replying to the toast of the Royal Family, the Duke of York expressed the opinion that efforts to improve the conditions of life in the great industrial centres must start from the belief that ordinary health and contentment are essential to vigorous and successful life in the body politic.

In fact, no refinements of civilization can be built where there is no stability of wealth without the general welfare of people. Fine arts, he said are perhaps the surest sign of genuine civilization and the greatest memorial that a generation can leave behind it. Of the educational value of art there can be no doubt. It is a potent means of elevating and enabling a nation's morals and therefore it should be protected and encouraged by those who have the direction of a nation's affairs.

The Modern Warrior.

Lord Thomson, Secretary for Air, replying to the toast of the Forces of the Crown, said no human being could foresee what the development of armament would be. One might be dismayed to think that a machine might outstrip human spirit. The soldier, sailor and airman of to-day were vastly different from the men who joined the Forces forty years ago. They had a different outlook. Many were highly skilled in technicals.

They had to be men capable of controlling their nervous system under peculiarly appalling conditions. They were not conscripts and not mercenaries; they were citizens who had adopted the great profession of arms and were prepared and anxious to live up to their high calling. They were waiting with quiet confidence for any trials which might come.

Representation Abroad.
Replying to the toast of His Majesty's Ministers, Lord Parmoor said that art culture was as essential in the system of national education as the teaching of industry and science and suggested that it should stand as a barrier against what was not unfrequently designated as the growing mechanisation of human life and action.

He felt that the British School of Art was not adequately represented in art exhibitions abroad and thought the Royal Academy and the Government in cooperation with others should promote in other countries the chosen masterpieces of British artists and of great master craftsmen at different periods.—British Wireless.

TALKIE FILMS ON LINERS.

AMERICAN MAIL LINE ENTERPRISE.

The American Mail Line and Dollar Steamship Company were hosts to a number of local residents on the s.s. President Madison last night when a demonstration was given of the talking film apparatus which has just been installed on the ship. Similar amenities are to be provided on all the other vessels of the lines.

The guests were entertained to dinner in the liner's dining saloon and later proceeded to the social hall where a full length talking film "Sweetie" was shown, preceded by a shorter Chinese item. The quality of the reproduction was excellent throughout and officials of the lines were warmly congratulated on their enterprise.

The Pacific vessels have long shown silent films for the entertainment of the passengers and have not been slow to install talking apparatus which should further increase the popularity of already very popular steamers.

STAGGERED UNDER BIG LOAD.

SMALL GIRL WHO DID IT FOR AMUSEMENT.

FATHER'S EXCUSE.

The father of a 13-year-old girl of 93, Kremer Street, Taikoktsui, appeared before Mr. Whyte Smith at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning on a charge of allowing his daughter to carry a weight of 66 catties, being 26 catties more than laid down by law for a child of that age.

The defendant in reply to the charge said that the girl was only doing it to amuse herself.

His Worship: Well, you had better see that she doesn't do it to amuse herself.

Sub-Inspector Chester Woods: She was carrying a load 27 pounds heavier than herself. She was ab-

KENNEDY ROAD AFFAIR.

Mr. Li Yuen, a merchant residing at No. 8 Kennedy Road, was the victim of a big robbery in the early hours of this morning, when a thief made a haul of $13,980 from his safe.

From the scant details to hand at the moment, it appears that the thief, probably assisted by confederates, effected an entry into the house by stepping through an open window. The bedroom, where the merchant was sleeping, was then visited and from the safe was extracted the money.

His Worship: What sort of a load was it?

Sub-Inspector Chester Woods: Eggs, two baskets of eggs.

His Worship: The Ordinance lays down not more than 40 catties and this was actually...

Sub-Inspector Chester Woods: 66 catties.

His Worship: And what's the girl's weight in catties?

Sub-Inspector Chester Woods: 60 catties is actually 85 pounds and the girl is 61 pounds, with her clothes, shoes and everything on.

His Worship: (to defendant): Don't you see that it's your duty to prevent a child from carrying a load like that?

Defendant: She was doing it to amuse herself.

His Worship: Don't talk nonsense. Is that the sort of amusement you like?

Defendant: I don't know the law.

His Worship: $50 or one month.

MANILA VARSITY UPROAR.

STUDENTS OBJECT TO WARM CLOTHES.

MORE THAN 300 DISMISSED
FOR IGNORING RULES.

HOT WEATHER REVOLT

Manila, May 1.
The summer session of the University of the Philippines was thrown into an uproar yesterday when more than three hundred students were dismissed from classes by Professor Jose Teodoro, Assistant Director, failure to comply with the regulation demanding uniform dress.

The students protested against the decision and the regulation which compels them, in the interest of economy, to appear in class in costumes made of heavy white cotton cloth, but when interviewed last night, asserted that they saw no course open to them except to obey the order.

Professor's Order.

Professor Teodoro determined last week to enforce the uniform dress regulation. He sent a circular to all instructors ordering that students appearing in class in any but regulation clothing should be marked absent, and dismissed from class.

The days continued warm, but no such absences were reported to the eagle-eyed Director. In the meantime he had observed students loitering about the corridors in organdie frocks and other garments better suited to the present weather condition than the so-called "suffocation jackets" which are prescribed.

Dismissal Fiat.

He determined therefore, to take matters into his own hands, and yesterday morning he made a personal inspection of all classes, and ordered instructors to dismiss all students not in uniform. Throughout the day the number grew, and by afternoon more than three hundred were missing from the seekers after learning.

Discipline and compliance with the regulations, according to the Assistant Director, is vastly more important than the comfort of the students, and so long as the regulation exists it must be obeyed and will be enforced.

Students' View.

The students, on the other hand, point out that the regulation clothing is entirely unsuited to periods of hot weather such as have obtained for the past few days, and that they feel justified in attending classes in more sensible apparel.

The uniform dress law, which was proposed by Representative Hernandez of Ilocos Sur and passed in 1928 has always been a source of contention. Its purpose is to preclude the possible expenditure of large sums on personal wardrobe, but its total effect, according to the students is simply a maximum of good looks.

It has been vigorously assailed by students and many faculty members, but its repeal has not yet been possible. Every attempt of its enforcement has been met with protest but yesterday is the first time that students have been actually dismissed for non-compliance.

Compelled to Act.

Members of the faculty did not take the initiative in the present drastic action until compelled to do so by Professor Teodoro, but under his direction, students were dismissed from the classes of the following professors: Pantasigul, Alzona, Mrs. Watson Zafra, de la Paz, Villanueva, Blanco, Flores, Febella, Perez, Austria, Lanza, and Samonte. All instructors holding session yesterday were compelled to follow suit.

they had found no time for counting them.

A Big Improvement.

For ourselves, we would like to add that we have found the working of the new system everything that could be desired, and a big improvement on the old method. We have not had the slightest difficulty in getting through quickly to numbers rung up, and we are convinced that if bad results are obtained, the fault is with the users, and not with the system.

A study of the clear and explicit instructions contained in the Telephone Directory, plus the exercise of ordinary common-sense, is all that is necessary to secure perfect results.

ANOTHER CRASH FEARED.

Despite President Hoover's assurance that "the worst is over," an enormous wave of selling swept over the New York stock market this morning. Falls in stocks varied from one to 14 points and a new record of nearly 5,000,000 shares for Saturday's trading was established.

There were scenes of wild confusion at the close of the day as stockholders, fearing another crash rushed to sell. The general anxiety was increased by the mystery surrounding the present decline, which started a week ago. —Reuter's American Service.

FARMER DEBENTURES DEFEATED.

LOWER HOUSE REJECTS THE SENATE AMENDMENT.

Washington, May 4.

The House of Representatives has rejected the debenture amendment which the Senate incorporated into the Tariff Bill, despite President Hoover's opposition.

This amendment provided for the issue of export debentures on farm products, whereby the American farmer would be paid on all he sends abroad, a sum equal to half the import duty chargeable against similar produce seeking entry from foreign countries.

Later.

Rallying strongly to the support of the President, the House of Representatives also rejected the Senate's amendment which would have deprived the President of power to change the rates as conditions warrant.—Reuter's American Service.

TRAGIC ERROR AT SHANGHAI.

POLICE FIRE ON COMRADES.

Shanghai, May 4.

An unusual mistake, with tragic results, occurred shortly after midnight last night, when two parties of Chinese police who were patrolling the Western District of the International Settlement, where a number of robberies have taken place lately, mistook each other for armed robbers.

One party, consisting of three Chinese detectives in plain clothes, was searching some suspicious persons, when the other party, of two Chinese detectives also in plain clothes, came on the scene and opened fire, which was returned.

As a result, one Chinese detective and a pedestrian were killed, while four Chinese detectives were badly wounded.—Reuter.

MAHATMA GANDHI ARRESTED.

DEFINITE ACTION BY AUTHORITIES.

IMPRISONMENT DURING THE GOVERNMENT'S PLEASURE.

HELD AT JALALPUR.

Jalalpur, May 1.
Mahatma Gandhi, leader of the civil disobedience movement in India has been arrested at Jalalpur under Regulation Twenty Five of 1927 and will be imprisoned during the pleasure of the Government of India.—Reuter.

Unknown Destination.

Later.

Gandhi arrived in custody at Borivli, near Bombay, where he was taken from the train and started under escort for an unknown destination.—Reuter.

Action Foreseen.

A United Press message from Bombay a day or two ago stated that events in India appeared to be moving towards a climax as the word had already spread then from apparently authoritative sources that British officials were preparing to take decisive action, including the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi. The message added:

Two of Gandhi's sons are now in gaol. Scores of his closest followers are behind the prison bars.

Bombay is beginning to feel, economically, the effect of Gandhi's programme of civil disobedience to British rule. Government bonds and other securities have weakened in the course of the trading on the Bombay stock exchange.

Although British officials maintained silence on the matter the belief has recently grown everywhere that Gandhi would be arrested momentarily. His defiance of British rule during the past few weeks has won thousands to his standards and the danger of revolt increased so that it was believed the British could no longer follow a policy of passive resistance to his methods.

The arrest of Gandhi might probably result in outbreaks but it is believed they could be quelled swiftly.

Repeated Arrests.

Gandhi was born of rich parents in 1869, was married at the age of 12 (as many Indian boys are), studied in India and graduated from the law school of the University of London in 1891, returning to India at once to begin the practice of law in Bombay.

Two years later Gandhi went to Pretoria, in South Africa, on legal business, and there became involved in an affair that changed the whole current of his life.

There were then some 150,000 Indians in South Africa. Their presence was bitterly resented by the white people there, and they were subject to severe indignities. Gandhi, impressed by their plight, threw up his law practice and devoted himself to helping them.

For 20 years Gandhi led these Indians in their struggle for equality. His parents were members of a religious sect which regarded the doctrine of non-injury to any form of life as of cardinal importance, and from this doctrine Gandhi evolved his famous non-resistance programme; a programme through which his followers resisted the British through strikes and boycotts but never by violence.

Gandhi was arrested repeatedly, but his hold on the Indians was strong, and in 1914 he had the satisfaction of seeing the legislation withdrawn. Natal was opened to Indians on terms of equality with whites. Gandhi went back to India, where his success gave him an increased prestige.

Independence Claim.

Then the World War came. Gandhi went to England and organized an ambulance corps, and throughout the conflict stood by the British Government loyally. In 1919, however, in India once more, he put himself at the head of Indian groups that were clamouring for independence.

There were numerous armed revolts in India in the next two or three years—small-scale affairs, considering the total number of the population—but Gandhi had (Continued on Page 7.)

MAJESTIC HOTEL SOLD AGAIN.

PRICE OVER TWO AND A HALF MILLION TAELS.

LAND CO. PURCHASE.

Shanghai, May 5.
The Majestic Hotel property has again changed hands, the new purchasers being the Shanghai Land Investment Company. The purchase price is 2,700,000 taels, representing forty-seven thousand taels per acre.

It is understood that the previous owners make a profit of half a million taels on the resale.—Reuter.

The Majestic Hotel changed hands last December when strong rumours were current that a big Chinese syndicate, supposedly representing Chiang Kai-shek, had purchased the hotel.

Later the head office of Hongkong and Shanghai Hotels Ltd. confirmed the sale of the Majestic Hotel for the sum of over 2,200,000 taels.

The Hotel was formerly the private mansion of the McBain family and it was acquired by the Hongkong and Shanghai Hotels, Limited, in 1923, after the amalgamation of Shanghai Hotel, Limited, with the Hongkong Hotel Company.

Extensive alterations and additions to the mansion were carried out, an additional wing being added to accommodate the fine ballroom and an enclosed winter garden, the lavish scheme of decoration taking many months to complete. It was on November 1st, 1924, that the opening of the Hotel took place with outstanding social functions.

Since that time the Hotel has been carried on with practically no additions to the bedroom accommodation, although this work was anticipated at the time of the purchase. As is known, the Hotel stands in extensive and magnificent grounds.

DR. SCHÖBER LEAVES LONDON.

IMPRESSED BY RECEPTION IN ENGLAND.

London, May 1.
Dr. Schöber, Austrian Chancellor, had a long talk with the King when he was received by His Majesty at Windsor Castle yesterday. He was presented also to the Queen.

This was the first official visit of an Austrian statesman to Windsor since the war.

Dr. Schöber left London in the afternoon for Vienna. Among those on the platform at Victoria Station were Mr. Arthur Henderson, Foreign Secretary, and Sir Robert Vansittart, Permanent Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs.

To press representatives, the Chancellor was enthusiastic about his welcome by the King and Queen and expressed his great satisfaction with the reception accorded him in official circles. He was specially gratified with the British newspaper articles appreciative of his work as a political leader of Austria and was particularly impressed by the term "New Austria" frequently used by writers.—British Wireless.

INDIAN ARSENAL EXPLOSION.

MYSTERIOUS AFFAIR AT KIRKEE.

INDIANS STEAL DETONATOR AND DECAMP.

SEVERAL INJURED.

Poona, May 4.
Six people were injured, two seriously, in a mysterious explosion at Kirkee in the midst of a number of Indians who were apparently decamping with a large detonator stolen from the local Arsenal, where some of them are believed to have been employed.

The injured men have been taken to hospital. Serious revelations in the affair are expected.—Reuter.

It is interesting to note that Kirkee was the training centre to which the Hongkong contingent for war service went in 1918.

There was a previous sensation at Kirkee early this month. A disaster in the Arsenal area was narrowly averted when a fire in the main magazine section of the ammunition factory was controlled after two hours' hard work on the part of British soldiers.

The outbreak led to bazaar rumours that an attempt was made to blow up the arsenal.

A special complimentary Brigade Order issued later congratulated all concerned for their efforts in fighting the fire, and recorded high appreciation of the conduct and behaviour of the officers, N.C.O.s, and men of the 2nd Royal Ulster Rifles.

The Order added: "There is little doubt that the prompt and gallant action of the Ulsters, assisted by the Indian Army Ordnance Corps, prevented a most serious explosion, the effect of which would have been incalculable."

The origin of the fire was a mystery, as no work had been done in the factory after mid-day on the Saturday. The fire occurred on the following day.

Manila Indians Organise.

Under strict police surveillance, the Indian National League composed of India residents of Manila who sympathize with the Gandhi civil disobedience programme, was formally organized at a general meeting held last week.

Two secret service men attended the meeting and took note of the entire proceedings. The Indians present were warned not to resort to moves which might compel the police to make arrests. Prior to the holding of the meeting, the leaders of the movement had been told by the police to exercise caution. The leaders promised to observe order in the meeting.

The constitution was adopted and a committee was named charged with the task of registering the association with the bureau of commerce and industry.

The association is pledged to support both financially and morally any Indian national organization which seeks freedom for the home land.

Only Legal Means.

In carrying out its objectives, the Indian National League will use only legal means. Consequently, the meeting decided to subsequently any connexion with organizations which advocate violence as a means of securing its ends. Furthermore, the Indian National League will not have anything to do with any local labour organization or party.

The Indian National League proposes to conduct all its meetings in the approved manner, keeping a record of all the proceedings, which records will be open to inspection any time by the authorities.

The League also aims to be protective, giving aid to members and their families needing assistance. According to the constitution, any Indian resident of the Philippines, regardless of religious affiliation, may become a member of the organization.

No Demonstrations.

Officers of the organization declared that no violent or defiant demonstrations against the British in Manila will be tolerated by the (Continued on Page 12.)

A NEW NORWEGIAN STEAMER.

MABELLA PAYING FIRST VISIT TO COLONY.

Arriving here from Saigon yesterday morning with 2,600 tons of rice, the Norwegian steamer Mabella registered her first visit to this port and is now lying moored to Buoy C 41.

She is under the command of Capt. A. Svendsen with a crew of eight Norwegians and 44 Asiatic seamen. The vessel left Saigon on April 27 for Kohsichang, and sailed for Hongkong the next day.

Owned by Karl Brugsdard, for whom Wing Fong Hung Co. are the local agents, the Mabella is a steel-screw steamer of 1,514 gross tonnage and 840 net tonnage. She was built in Elbing in 1920 by F. Schichau, having a length of 261; 7 feet, a beam of 40.1 feet and a depth of 15.6 feet.

Registered at Drammen under the Norwegian flag, her engines were installed by the builders and are capable of developing 142 N.H.P. (Continued on Page 12.)

MURDER TRIAL AT SESSIONS.

THREE CHINESE IN THE DOCK.

CASE RESTS ON EVIDENCE OF YOUNG GIRL.

TOOTH AS EXHIBIT.

The importance of a 13-years-old girl's testimony to the Crown case was emphasised at the opening of the Kowloon City murder case which commenced at the Criminal Sessions this morning before the Chief Justice (Sir Joseph Kemp). Mr. Somerset Fitzroy, for the Crown, stated that the case really rested on the girl's evidence and identification, as she was the only one who saw three men visitors in her master's house.

There are three accused, Tse Ping, alias Tse Ki-chau, Cheng Luk and Sun Tam, and they are charged with the murder of Cheung Hung-chun at No. 3, Sha Street, Kowloon City, on February 15, 1930. They are defended by Mr. E. C. Jenkin, instructed by Mr. G. K. Hall Brutton. All accused pleaded not guilty.

The following jury was empanelled:—Messrs B. J. Lacon (foreman), M. H. Arnold, O. F. Ribeiro, C. Bond, W. D. Deans, Mok Ching-um and Loo Ien-ming.

Rag Down Throat.

In opening the case for the Crown, Mr. Fitzroy produced plans and maps of the premises where the body was found. He explained that, when found, the man was tied up and a red rag had been pushed so far down his throat that the jaw had to be sawn at the post mortem examination in order to get it out.

He continued that the whole of the Crown case really rested on the evidence of a 13-years-old girl who was living with Cheung. Counsel explained that at about three o'clock on the afternoon of February 15, three men identified as accused, were given admittance to the floor when Sun Tam asked Cheung about his charges for performing religious rites. The men went into the front cubicle where there was an altar while Cheung and his servant girl remained in the kitchen.

The girl took tea to the men and visited the room where they were, from time to time, so that she had good opportunities of seeing them and recognising them. Later, Cheung also went into the front cubicle after which one of the visitors entered the kitchen and asked the girl to go to the front cubicle. She did so, but when she entered she was seized, gagged, and tied up with wire. A stone was placed in her mouth.

Found by Police.

While so bound, she heard noises as of people rummaging about, and after they left she succeeded in freeing herself and informed the police. The police found Cheung lying dead on the floor and traced spots of blood going along a corridor between the cubicles to the kitchen, down the stairs and into an alleyway. Certain information was obtained which resulted in accused being arrested.

It was significant that Cheung Luk had the mark of a recent cut on his hand which, according to medical evidence, must have been inflicted considerably.

As far as could be ascertained, nothing was taken from the place.

Doctor's Evidence.

Dr. J. E. Dowie, Medical Officer in charge of Kowloon Mortuary, said that when he examined the body there were a few external abrasions, including marks on the throat which, he thought, could have been caused by Cheung himself if he had clawed at his throat. There appeared to be blood under the finger nails and a small bruise on the back of the left hand. Witness gave it as his opinion that Cheung died from suffocation, as the position of the rag in the throat would have prevented him from breathing.

"RED" DOCUMENTS IN AMERICA.

SOVIET COMPANY'S THREAT OF DAMAGE SUIT.

INQUIRY DEMANDED.

New York, May 4.
According to Mr. Whalen, the Police Commissioner of New York, no investigation of the alleged Communist documents which have been seized by detectives is possible at present. Mr. Whalen explains that the Police Department is still engaged in obtaining information with regard to certain Communist groups.

He made this statement in a reply to a letter from M. Bogdanov, the chairman of the Amtorg Trading Corporation which is regarded as a veiled threat of a damage suit.

In the letter to the Police Commissioner, M. Bogdanov demanded a thorough joint investigation of the seized documents and protested against the damage which the Amtorg Trading Corporation and its American business associates might suffer as a result of publication of the document and the charges made in connexion with them by Mr. Whalen.

The Police allege that the documents show that the Communist Internationale at Moscow is directly responsible for the fomenting of strikes and riots in the United States.

The correspondence contains repeated references, the Police aver, to the expenditure of funds for fomenting various outbreaks and for supporting these when they occur. One of the letters bears the heading of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, the Soviet's official purchasing agents in the United States.—Reuter's American Service.

LADY MOTORIST'S ESCAPE.

CAR GOES OVER BANK ON TO BEACH.

A lady motorist driving an Austin Seven (No. 678) on the Castle Peak Road yesterday afternoon had the misfortune to run over the embankment, but, fortunately, she escaped without injury.

The incident occurred just off the 13th mile beach, and at the time the lady was alone in the car. She was endeavouring to avoid a motor cyclist when she drove over the bank, with the result that the car fell on to the beach close to the last bathing shed at the Castle Peak end.

The lady was not hurt, but the car received considerable damage, while two of the supporting struts of the matted were broken.

COST OF EARNING A FEW CENTS.

WOMAN OPIUM CARRIER TAKES BIG RISK.

With a child strapped to her back after the usual native fashion, a Chinese woman appeared before Mr. Lindsell at the Central Police Court this morning, charged with the possession of 24 taels of opium of Wuchow origin.

She admitted the offence, and in extenuation, pleaded that she was in poor circumstances, and had hoped to make a few cents by carrying the contraband for a man.

"And yet you will risk doing all that," observed the Magistrate, as he imposed a fine of $2,000, or, in default, two months' imprisonment.

LICENCE WHICH WAS NOT RENEWED.

MAN WHO HAD NO TIME IN A YEAR.

Charged with driving a private car without a licence, a Chinese told Mr. Lindsell at the Central Police Court this morning that he had had no time to renew it.

As it was shown that his licence had expired almost a year back, his Worship observed: "Nonsense, to say you could not find time during a whole year."

The Police stated the man had a clear record, and that there would be no objection to renewing his licence if he had asked for it. A fine of $5 was inflicted.

AUTOMATIC PHONE MUDDLE.

CARELESSNESS CAUSE OF TROUBLE.

HOW PUBLIC MISUSED A FINE SYSTEM.

APPEAL BY COMPANY.

"Everything wrong that could possibly be done, has been done by the public, or certain sections of it," said Mr. J. P. Sherry, the Manager of the Hongkong Telephone Company, to a Telegraph representative this morning, in reply to enquiries as to how the the transfer to the automatic system went off yesterday.

"The equipment is O.K.; the service is O.K.; the number of actual faults is small, but the number of mis-operations has been very high," added Mr. Sherry.

What Happened.

"It is quite clear what happened yesterday. A whole lot of people, mostly Chinese, I think, started trying out the telephones the first thing in the morning as soon as they got up. It also seems to me that certain Chinese business houses, who do very little business on Sunday, keep a lot of foks, and these foks all had a shot at using the telephone when they knew nothing whatever about the new system."

"The result was that there was more traffic on the exchange yesterday than there has been during the busiest hours to-day."

Common Faults.

"What are the actual faults committed by the telephone users?" our representative enquired, to which Mr. Sherry replied:—"They lift the receiver and do not dial; or they simply hold the receiver and wait for something to happen, and, of course, it does not. Others start playing about with their machines, or dial one number, hang the receiver up and then try to dial another number."

"Some have tried to dial their old numbers, or others have used their old telephones, which engage the switches, but give them nothing."

Appeal to Public.

"It is all a matter of carelessness. The system is O.K. and it is now entirely up to the public to do their part by knowing how to use the new telephone. I would appeal to the public, through your columns," said Mr. Sherry, "to give the new system a fair chance by learning its proper use."

"People should give definite instructions to their Chinese servants and employees, who do not use the telephone, not to touch them at all; at least until we have settled down after the change-over."

"Yes," he replied to another question, "people have been pouring in since yesterday to learn how to use the new machines, and, as you can see, we have now had to organise them by admitting a certain number at a time. The great pity is that they did not trouble to make themselves acquainted with the new working earlier."

How One can Hold up Others.

"To-day we are busy disconnecting the old telephones, and this will at least remove a potential source of serious trouble, as it will prevent subscribers from using them. The chief trouble is that one person, by mis-using the telephone, can disconnect a whole group of subscribers, thereby not only holding himself up, but others as well."

"But if we can get a nucleus of local subscribers to take the trouble to learn how to use their telephones properly, it will not be very long before the system will be working with perfect smoothness."

"The public is to blame that things have gone wrong up to the present. Our system is quite all right, and there is nothing wrong with the equipment. Just a little care and trouble on the part of the subscribers is all that is required."

Mr. Sherry was unable to give any specific figures as to the number of telephones disconnected through mis-use yesterday, as he pointed out that they had been so busy trying to clear things up that (Continued on Page 12.)

Mr. Quist then proposed the health of His Majesty, King George, followed by the playing of the British National Anthem.

H.E. the General Officer Commanding returned thanks for the hearty welcome extended to the guests.

The General was eminently suited to respond, having spent three years at the Hague as His Majesty's Military Attaché there. In happy and eulogizing terms, he referred to the Royal Family of Holland, whom he had had the privilege of meeting frequently; appreciative references were made by him regarding the people, and the beautiful scenery of Holland.

His Excellency then proposed the toast of Her Majesty the Queen of Holland, the Princess Juliana, and the Royal Family. This toast was followed by the playing of the Netherlands National Anthem "Wilhelmus van Nassouwe," which was sung by the whole Dutch community.

The party then adjourned for dancing which was carried on to a late hour, and so ended a most enjoyable evening.

LOCAL WEDDINGS.

POLICE SUPERINTENDENT AND NURSING SISTER.

The marriage arranged between Mr. Cecil Graham Perdue, Superintendent of Police, son of the Rev. Canon and Mrs. Perdue, of Killala, County Mayo, Ireland, and Miss Margaret Knight North, formerly nursing sister in the Government Service and daughter of the late Mr. J. W. North, A.R.A., and the late Mrs. North, of Washford, Somerset, was solemnized by the Rev. W. Walton Rogers, at St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, on Saturday morning.

The ceremony was a quiet one owing to the fact that the bridegroom is still somewhat lame from an injury received last December. The bride was given away by Dr. G. W. Pope and attended by Mrs. Pope. Mr. J. Ring acted as Best Man.

After the service, a reception was held at the Peninsula Hotel, where a large number of friends of the bride and bridegroom gathered to wish them good luck.

The health of the bride and bridegroom was proposed by the Hon. Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe, C.M.G., (Inspector General of Police), in (Inspector General of Police), in a happy and witty speech, to which the bridegroom suitably replied. The bride and bridegroom left for home by the s.s. President Polk, which sailed early on Sunday morning.

Amongst the numerous gifts received were those from:

The Nursing Sisters of the Medical Department, a set of tortoiseshell and silver hair brushes and a clock; The Chinese nurses of the Medical Department, a lady's dressing case; The Hon. The Inspector General of Police and the Police Superintendents, a cheque; The European staff of the C.I.D., a silver tea service; The Chief Inspector, Inspectors and Sub-Inspectors of Kowloon, a silver cigarette box and silver cigarette case; The Chinese Detective Inspector and Chinese Detectives, a silver rose bowl; The senior Clerical and Accounting staff, Police Headquarters, a silver dish and nutcrackers; The Officers of H.M.S. Sirdar, a silver cocktail-shaker.

Harbour Office Employee Wedded.

No little interest was manifested in the pretty wedding which took place at the Rosary Church, Kowloon on Saturday, when the contracting parties were Miss Irene Helena Colloco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Colloco and Mr. Henry Christian Brown of the Harbour Office, and son of Mrs. and the late Mr. J. Brown.

The officiating clergyman was Father G. M. Spada, and the bride, who was given away by her father, was tastefully dressed in georgette and lace, and carried a bouquet of white roses with maiden hair ferns.

She was attended by three bridesmaids, the Misses Anna Brown (sister of the bridegroom), Rozaria and Joaquina Fernandez, who wore dresses of mauve georgette and carried bouquets of white and pink roses with maiden hair fern. The bride's mother was attired in a dress of white and black celanese.

The best men were Mr. C. Dodson and Mr. Fred J. Brown.

Subsequent to the ceremony, a reception was held at the bridegroom's residence, Homuntin, and later the happy pair left for the honeymoon, which is being spent at Macao and Canton. The bride's travelling dress was of a peach georgette, with hat to match.

eral election until "danger of disorder" is past. The Ordinance is styled the "Prevention of Disturbances Emergency Ordinance of 1930." A new date for the general election will be fixed by the Governor by proclamation.

Valetta was astir until an early hour, but the crowds were most orderly in view of a police notice prohibiting gatherings. The Governor was vociferously cheered as he drove away after the Privy Council meeting. The news was received very calmly all over the country.

KAI TAK FOLLIES SUCCESS.

SPLENDID ENTERTAINMENT BY THE R.A.F.

The versatility of the Royal Air Force was demonstrated on Saturday evening, when the Kai Tak Follies, which, in other words, is the R.A.F. concert party, gave a first class entertainment at the Naval Canteen Theatre.

The only disappointing feature of the evening was the distinctly poor attendance, and, after seeing what the Follies can serve up in the way of good and tasteful amusement, the reason for this is hard to discover.

Variety was the key-note of the Follies' programme on Saturday, and it was produced in such a way as to keep the interest and enjoyment of the audience alive up to the final "Good-night." The whole of the artistes acquitted themselves with full honours, concerted and solo numbers all being vociferously received.

"Our Parochial Gathering" by the entire Company was perhaps the best of a delightful array of items, and "Harmonious House Hunting" ran a good second. L/S. Stretton obliged with some songs and Cpl. Cox brought the house down with his rendition of "The Fireman's Dream." Tower and Co. helped things along with a couple of first-rate numbers and Tower and Cox were responsible for one of the biggest laughs of the evening for their patter on the "Transmigration of Souls."

Cpl. L.A. Watling put the audience on excellent terms with the artistes by his opening piano solos, and the whole show was a spontaneous success, and should serve as an encouragement to the concert party to give the public further opportunities of enjoying their talent.

The programme was ably produced by Cpl. A.E. Cox, and he was assisted by Cpl. A.L. Watling (Business Manager), and Cpl. B. Rowwell (Stage Manager).

The artistes were Cpl. Cox, L.A. Talbert, Ac. Summers, L.A. Millward, L/S. Stretton, Ac. Muirhead, Ac. Tower, Ac. Hart and Cpl. Watling.

The complete programme was:
Piano Solo ..... Watling.
Opening Chorus The Follies
A Lively ..... Tower and Co.
"Three Jolly Sailors" ..... Cox, Stretton and Muirhead.

Banjo Solo ..... Talbert.
Good English Ale ..... Cox, Muirhead and Summers.
Song ..... Stretton.
"The Transmigration
of Souls" Cox and Towers.
The Ghost Walk ..... Towers.
Harmonious
House Hunting The Party.
Baby Dear ..... Tower and Co.
Tally Ho ..... Cox and Talbert.
Wireless up to Date ..... A Demonstration.
The Fireman's Dream ..... Cox.
The Doubtful Quartette.
Then and Now ..... Cox and Talbert.
Song ..... Tower and Hart.
"Our Parochial Gathering" ..... The Follies.
"We Say Goodnight" ..... The Follies.

THE WISE ADVERTISER

The wise advertiser is the newspaper advertiser.

WHY?

Because he knows that his message will reach potential customers at the right moment—at the receptive moment.

PUT IT THIS WAY!

Have you ever sat down before dinner with a directory or a poster on your knee? We apologise for putting such an absurd question—but some people may not see the case in this light.

THEN REMEMBER!

The newspaper is not published once a year, but is the people's indispensable record of daily events—not referred to occasionally, but read every day.

SEND YOUR MESSAGE DAILY

—and the most effective and economical method of doing this is by advertising in The Hongkong Telegraph.

FOLLOW THE EXAMPLE

of the Colony's most progressive business houses, and—

Advertise Where It Definitely Pays To Advertise.

A STORY AND A MORAL.

Recently, a gentleman decided to sail round the world in a junk. He wanted two co-adventurers to join him, but who would sail round the world in a junk? Possibly you would say "nobody!" However, he was a wise man, and he invited applications through the medium of The Hongkong Telegraph—and found twenty-one people ready and willing to join him!

UNITED STATES PERTURBED.

CHANGES IN CANADA'S TARIFF.

Washington, May 3.
The Canadian Tariff changes have evoked much comment in Congress circles. The Republicans construe Canada's action as a threat to influence Congress in handling the Tariff Bill, which is now being discussed. The Democrats contend that high American tariffs inevitably led to retaliatory measures by foreign nations, and affected the country's foreign trade.

Mr. Crisp, a member of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives, declares that when the new American tariff is enacted other nations will retaliate. —Reuter's American Service.

WOMAN'S WORLD

FOR OUR LADY READERS

Rainy Modes.

GAY WATERPROOFS FOR DEPRESSING DAYS.

For everyday wear in the country, no mackintosh is smarter than a leather model, or a coat of natural coloured, waterproofed tweed. Yet there are occasions when a somewhat daintier mackintosh is called for. Let us suppose that you are going a-visiting in a pretty crepe-de-chine dress on a rainy afternoon. A sturdy leather overcoat seems hardly the thing with which to cover your frock, now does it!

I will tell you of some very smart mackintoshes which I have lately seen—dainty enough to be worn over the lightest frock, yet durable enough to fulfil their destinies in the stormiest weather.

Up to the Ears.

A very serviceable model was of waterproofed silk of a dark blue colour. It was double-breasted, buttoned to the throat, and had an enormous stand-up collar, which reached above the ears. There were two big patch pockets, with flaps; wide, buttoned cuffs, and a belt which was worn at the natural waistline.

The whole affair was lined with natural coloured, finely woven woollen material, but, until the coat was opened, this was not visible, except where the lining of the collar showed between the opening in front.

Maroon-coloured, waterproofed fabric had been chosen for another very businesslike-looking coat. This was secured right up to the chin
by means of invisible fastenings.
The high collar was turned down to reveal a lining of cream and maroon coloured plaid to match the narrow cuffs and belt.

White Silk.

Another coat had evidently been designed for the girl who is fond of unusual effects. It was of plaid silk in various shades of blue and black—waterproofed, of course. It was simply cut, with a rather generous wrap-over, which was kept in place by a narrow belt. There was a wide shawl collar of plain blue material which tapered off towards the belt, and wide gauntlet cuffs to match.

An exceedingly smart mackintosh was composed of white water-proofed silk, having a little cape of self material. Rather wide revers of proofed black satin turned out over the cape, to match the very wide black satin cuffs. This really was a most attractive model, and far removed from the sort of thing we used to call a mackintosh in the days when waterproofs were merely things to cover you up and keep you dry, rather than adjuncts to chic and beauty.—H.M. In En-

Fashion Notes.

EVENING SKIRTS LONG AND FULL.

The battle of the skirt and its length, that has been fought for many seasons, is over, and skirts are definitely long and voluminous;
but it will not take women long to realise the advantage of the added inches, that give a charming touch of dignity to dress and figure, and there is little doubt that they will unhesitatingly accept so becoming a fashion, especially as it will be quite a novel experience to dress with dignity after a surfeit of knee-length frocks. The idea has hitherto been that by reviving longer skirts, women would lose in youthfulness of appearance. But not at all. The eye soon grows accustomed to what is fashionable, and grace and beauty are gained by the change.

It must not, however, be thought that the arrival of definite acceptance of the long skirt—for it has been coming in tentatively, especially among bridal fashions, for a long time—means the disappearance of the short one in its proper place. For morning wear, outdoor activities generally, and all sports dress, short tweeds and jerseys are correct, as before.

Afternoon skirts are cut more or less long, as you please; the evening skirt is always long and always full, reaching at least to the ankles and falling lower in parts. Thus, the uneven hem-line is used on practically every evening dress, and the skirt that almost or quite meets the ground at the back is often shortened considerably in front, or hangs in draperies of uneven length everywhere.

Lace Underskirts.
Another thing. Both single and dressed skirts, with their graceful swaying effects, whether of satin, printed silk, lace, or similar fine fabrics, are all provided with short under-petticoats of lace, to keep them light looking and easy wearing and give a delicate air. Again, hip-pokes, no matter of what material, are invariably closely fitted. Some are stitched in slanting lines to form triangles and give to them a slight suggestion of a pattern.

Draperies and Godets.
The new corsage defines the figure to the waist (which is now at normal level), below which the skirt presents a mass of soft drapery, frills or flounces, the tendency being in favour of draperies or quite long flounces, rather than short frills.
Skirts of georgette and frail stuffs,
of the kind, are often finely pleated in one or other of the mystery ways affected by fashion; or fullness
may be given by graceful godets, cut and introduced in novel ways
and by new looped draperies.

The way with dressmakers is to create a new line to start with, and then work on to that line variations that shall captivate and offer a good choice.

COLONIAL SERVICE.

If the creation of a single Colonial Service, which has been recommended by the Committee which has been considering appointments to the Colonial Office and the Colonial services, become an accomplished fact, considerable benefits should accrue from the step. This matter received very considerable attention at the Colonial Office Conference held three years ago in London, at which Hongkong was represented. It was shown on that occasion that a widespread feeling existed, particularly in the smaller Colonies, that, in the circumstances prevailing, owing to the fact that there was no unified Colonial Service, officers laboured under serious disabilities in the matter of transfers, and had in many cases few or no prospects of ultimate promotion. This applied particularly to the scientific and technical branches.

One of the points touched upon at that Conference was that individual Colonies tend to become watertight compartments. In the words of the official report on the deliberations of the Conference, "the business of government is conducted in a well-worn groove: there is not sufficient diffusion of experience and specialised knowledge to secure the steady development of this group of units as a whole. Transfers of officers seem to be opportunistic rather than systematic. Officers in the technical services in particular find themselves hemmed in by local influences, and may and often do succumb to them." Elsewhere it was recorded that "there is little to promote inter-Colonial esprit de corps or a sense of Empire service. The general atmosphere, in short, is provincial rather than Imperial." The Committee, now reporting on the matter refers to the many anomalies which have grown up under this haphazard system. These anomalies were mentioned at the 1927 Conference, and to remove them and remedy other defects pointed out, it was suggested that a single Colonial Service, financed by contributions to a central pool, should be created for each of the technical services, each being placed under the charge of a single Adviser attached to the Colonial Office. This proposal, however, was then considered too far-reaching, and it was eventually decided that it would be better to confine the proposed arrangement to scientific and research officers. What was considered too sweeping three years ago is now advocated by the Committee which has been considering the matter, it being urged that unified special services, such as agriculture, medicine and education, should be organised with the proposed single Colonial Service.

One other point which it is interesting to note is that during the past twenty years there has been a tremendous increase in the staffs of the non-self-governing Colonies, with a huge rise in expenditure. Staffs have grown from 93,000 to 220,000, and expenditure from nineteen millions sterling to sixty-eight millions. These figures are all the more remarkable since the 1927 Conference bemoaned the difficulty of getting men for the smaller Colonies, and one of the suggestions put forward was that there should be an educational campaign at Home to overcome the prevailing ignorance with regard to the Colonies and their services.

British Cotton Trade.

To-day will see the start of the National Cotton Week in England which aims at bringing the advantages of cotton goods to the notice of the public and attempting to recover for the trade some of its former prosperity. It has often been said that Great Britain has lagged behind in national advertising and that her industries have too often been content to believe that British products would sell on their merits. The fallacy has probably been exploded by now and the cotton trade has come to the conclusion that one way at least of endeavouring to bring back prosperity to a sadly impoverished industry is by means of publicity. Britain has been too slow in the past to use methods of this kind and hence Lancashire's big drive will be watched with more than average interest. Whether or not it is possible for the trade to return to its former greatness seems doubtful. A large number of factors have contributed to the present decline and recently another blow was administered by the new cotton duties imposed by India. Yet those who should know largely blame modern fashions for the decline in the use of cotton and it would appear that other factors have had only a small effect. It is not clear, however, whether there has sprung into existence an objection to cotton as a material or whether the fact that modern garb requires less material in its fashioning. Most likely the effect is a joint one, but if cotton has fallen into disfavour as a material, then the industry has taken the logical step in attempting to restore it to public favour by the organisation of Cotton Week. The industry refuses to stand idle when circumstances work against it and the sponsors of the present publicity campaign are to be congratulated on their determination to fight the new adverse factors which have sprung into prominence. With the optimism of the chairman who believes that the worst of the Lancashire depression has been seen, coupled with the industry's inherent courage, then there is much ground for hope that Lancashire will soon recover some of its former degree of prosperity.

The annual meeting of the Hongkong and China Branch of the Surveyors' Institution was held on Monday last, when the following officers were elected:—Chairman, Mr. A. G. YOUNG LADS TO BE CANED.*SERIES OF THEFTS IN KOWLOON.

Several young Chinese were ordered to receive strokes of the cane on their appearance before Mr. Whyte Smith at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning on charges of larceny.

Two lads of Kowloon City were charged with stealing an earthenware bowl containing a live carp fish from a market stall during the early hours of yesterday morning, and on their admitting the offence each was ordered to receive eight strokes of the cane.

A similar punishment was imposed on a lad who admitted stealing nine pieces of wood from the Sang Lee contractors who are engaged on repairing the roadway outside the Peninsula Hotel. The defendant's mother was questioned by the Magistrate with regard to her son's behaviour and she replied that he had got into bad company by playing with the Punt boys, he being a Chuchow native.

Ten strokes of the cane was the penalty passed on a boy who stole an umbrella from the servants' quarters of 160, Austin Road. The defendant was seen by a comrade's coolie and arrested on suspicion.

OPIUM SEIZED IN POULTRY SHOP.*DRUG HIDDEN BETWEEN TIN PLATES.

The premises of the Kung Yick Loong, poultry dealers, at No. 224, Des Voeux Road West, were raided by Revenue Officer Grimmit and a party of other officers at about 9 p.m. on Saturday night, a seizure of contraband opium, amounting to about 800 taels being made. Two poultry runners from Wuchow were arrested.

They were charged before Mr. Lindell this morning, when it was stated that the drug was somewhat cleverly hidden in between tin-plates.

Admitting possession of the drug, one of the defendants was fined $5,000, or six months, while the other man was discharged.

Hongkong passengers due to arrive on the Khiva this week include Dr. R. S. Begbie, Mrs. A. E. Cherry, Mrs. E. A. Davies, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Leib, Sir Wm. Peel, K.B.E., C.M.G., and Secretary, Lady Peel, Miss M. B. Walker, Mr. W. F. Winter.

The Very Idea!

The correspondent of a large business firm had been invited to dinner by a friend. At the table the host asked him to say grace. It was a new experience, but he was not to be found wanting.

"Dear Lord," he began, "we thank Thee for all favours of recent date. Permit us to express our heartfelt thanks and gratitude. We trust that we may continue to merit your confidence, and that we shall receive many more blessings from you in the future. Amen."

Motorist—"Are you hurt, my boy?"

Butcher Boy (excitedly)—"No, but I can't find my liver!"

The Home Secretary, Mr. J. R. Clynes, speaking at a concert at Southend recently, told the best joke of the evening.

The story was that of an old woman who, every time the rate collector pushed a rate-paper under the door, blew it back with a pair of bellows.

At last the rate collector gave it up as a bad job, remarking "if my house was as draughty as that, I wouldn't pay either."

The following exchange of compliments overheard between two Irish amazons affords a good example of Hibernian readiness of retort.

"As for you, Mistress O'Hooly," said one in a tone of finality—"it's meself that holds the opinion that ye are nothin' but a flusterin' frickie-faced ould fossil!"

"Arrah, then, Mistress Branigan," was the ready retort—"An it's me own ould mother that always used to say—'Far better to have frickles on yer face than spots on yer reputation.'"

Three stories of the late Earl Balfour, before he was made a Peer, from the Yorkshire Evening Post:

As a keen golfer, Mr. Balfour naturally could tell a good golfing story. One concerned his Scottish caddie, who kept the crowd strictly in order when his employer was playing.

One day just as Mr. Balfour was about to putt, a spectator coughed. The caddie rushed forward: "Dinna putt, sir, dinna putt."

And then to the crowd generally:—"Can you gentlemen gie you man a jujube?"

Another had to do with a golfing holiday at Biarritz. His partner, having made an excellent shot, turned to his caddie, a French boy, for the usual compliment.

Ignorant of the English tongue, the caddie could only try to remember some phrase employed by English golfers, and, having found it, he looked up pleasingly and said, "Beastly luke!"

A Scots weather prophet once informed Mr. Balfour that it was going to rain for 72 days.

"Come, come," said Mr. Balfour: "it only took 40 days to 'flood the world.'"

"Ay, ay!" said the prophet, "but the world wasna' sue weel drained then as it is noo."

WHO WAS—*ALCIUN?

Alciun is a name honoured in European, no less than in English history as one of the greatest teachers and organisers of the Middle Ages.

The problems of peace, no less than of war, received the most careful attention from that great Christian emperor Charlemagne. He desired to see a renaissance of learning within the empire which he had at last united; so he invited the English Alciun, famous theologian, and scholar, and master of York Cathedral school to undertake the supervision and direction of this movement.

Alciun's first task was to reorganise the palace school, after which he betook his energies further afield. Among his many works was the revival of the monastery school, of St. Martin at Tours, of which school he was made Abbot in 798.

Of the many brilliant scholars who congregated at Charlemagne's court, Alciun was the outstanding figure in his day. As a writer, perhaps, he was of minor importance, but as a teacher he will be remembered as one of the greatest whom England, and Europe has ever produced.

EMBEZZLEMENT BY ACCOUNTANT.*YOUNG PAWNSHOP EMPLOYEE GETS SIX MONTHS.*GUILT ADMITTED.

Admitting the embezzlement of $3,559.46, from the Shiu Yuen pawnshop, in 344, Main Street, where he was employed as an accountant, Wong Yuk, aged 25, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment by Mr. Lindsell at the Central Magistracy this morning.

Mr. Horace Lo appeared for the complainant, but after the defendant had pleaded guilty to the charges, he said that he did not wish to press for a committal, as, although there might have been further charges preferred, they would have all amounted to the same thing. The complainant was satisfied that the total sum mentioned against the accused was the whole of the money so far as he was concerned.

In detailing the facts, Mr. Lo said that the defendant was an accountant at the pawnshop, which lent out money on pledges, which were later redeemed. These passed through the accused's hands and it was for him to enter them in the books, as he was accountable for the money.

The police said that they did not wish for a committal, and there was nothing known against the defendant.

Mr. Lo added that the fact of defendant pleading guilty, as he had, tended towards extenuating circumstances, and he thought that the sentence suggested by his Worship would well meet the case, as the accused was only a young lad.

Mr. Lindsell then imposed the aforementioned sentence.

MURDER TRIAL AT SESSIONS.

Cross-examined by Mr. Jenkin, witness agreed that on a piece of wire, used for binding the girl, there was a projection. He also said that if she had struggled to free her hands of the wire he would expect to find some mark on the girl's wrists to indicate that.

Witness said, in reply to another question, that if the stone, which was rather rough, had been in the girl's mouth for approximately half an hour, with a gag held in place by wire, he would expect to find some abrasions.

Counsel Produce Tooth.

Mr. Jenkin produced a tooth, which witness said he was not prepared to classify, as he was not a dentist. He added that he took it to be either an incisor or a molar. He agreed that the gap he found in Cheung's jaw, from which a tooth appeared to have come, was not in the molar region of the mouth.

Answering questions as to a doctor's ability to tell the age of a wound, witness said it depended on the attention given to the wound either by a doctor or the patient himself, the patient's health and the nature of the instrument causing the wound. After seven days he could tell the date of a wound within a day or two.

Witness said that wounds caused by broken earthenware were generally irregular, and in the case of a wound so inflicted one might find particles of earthenware or one might not. In such a case, witness agreed that such particles should be looked for.

Re-examined by Mr. Fitzroy, Dr. Dovey said that the gap in Cheung's jaw was about the same size as the tooth.

Replying to his Lordship, witness explained that the rag in Cheung's throat might have been drawn so deeply in by his breathing, or it might have been forced in deeply.

The case is proceeding.

POLITICAL FERMENT IN MALTA.*STRONG OBJECTION TAKEN TO VATICAN DICTATION.

Malta, May 2.

The Chronicle has published important official documents with regard to the political and religious situation. The documents show that the British Government has expressed its willingness to enter into negotiations with the Vatican for concordat but has suspended negotiations owing to the Vatican's refusal to entertain any proposal as long as Lord Strickland remained at the head of the Maltese Ministry.

The Maltese Government has made representations to the Imperial Government declaring that the "safety of this great Imperial outpost will be jeopardised if it is left free to the Vatican to dictate the Maltese policy and impose upon Maltese men who are to govern them."—Reuter.

CANTON OFFICIAL BANQUET.*CIVIL GOVERNOR OPTIMISTIC REGARDING OUTLOOK.*U.S. CONSUL SPEAKS.

Canton, May 3. His Excellency General Chan Ming-shu, Civil Governor of Kwangtung, General Chan Chai-tong, Commander-in-Chief of the 8th Route Army, and Mr. Lam Wen-koi, Mayor of Canton, were the hosts at a very large banquet given last evening at Government House to many Government officials and to the Consular Body. Unfortunately General Chan Chai-tong, though acting as a host, was unable to be present, the exigencies of the present campaign in Kwangsi necessitating the General's immediate return to Wuchow, his headquarters.

The large hall of Government House was nicely decorated and the guests were treated to an excellent Chinese dinner, during which the band of the Military Headquarters played foreign music.

Many toasts were drunk, including that of the President of the Republic of China, and others to the rulers of the various countries represented at the banquet.

His Excellency General Chan Ming-shu proposed the health of the guests, speaking in Chinese. His speech was afterwards translated into English by Mr. Lee. His Excellency welcomed the guests on behalf of himself, General Chan Chai-tong and Mr. Lam Wen-koi. He regretted very much indeed the inevitable absence of General Chan Chai-tong and he added that it had been intended to hold the banquet earlier in the year, but that he had been specially waiting for the return of General Chan Chai-tong from Wuchow in order that he might be present as a host. Unfortunately, when he had at last been able to come to Canton, he was forced to return quickly to Wuchow. He stressed the great need for peace in the Province and prophesied the final wiping out of the Kwangsi rebels in the very near future.

His Excellency expressed entire confidence in the Central Authorities to suppress the revolt of the Kuominchun in the North in the shortest possible time and added "when this trouble is over, it will most likely be the last act of the drama in the Civil Wars of China."

Mr. Douglas Jenkins, Consul-General for the United States of America and Duyen of the Consular Body of Canton, replied on behalf of the foreign guests. With a few well-chosen words he thanked His Excellency General Chan Ming-shu and the other hosts for their hospitality and added how happy they all were to hear such reassuring remarks regarding the situation both in the Province of Kwangtung and in the North. Continuing, he assured the hosts of the friendship which all countries represented at the banquet felt for China and concluded by proposing the Government of Kwangtung and their hosts.—Our Own Correspondent.

JUROR EXCUSED.*BUSY WITH THE AUTOMATIC PHONES.

Mr. Kirkwood, of the Telephone Company, was this morning exempted from service on the jury for the Kowloon City murder case, when the Criminal Sessions recommenced at the Supreme Court before the Chief Justice (Sir Joseph Kemp).

When his name was called Mr. Kirkwood said:—I should like exemption from service on this occasion, my Lord.

His Lordship:—On what grounds?

Mr. Kirkwood:—I am employed by the Telephone Company and as we are changing over to automatic telephones, we are extremely busy. The application was granted.

SMUGGLED TOBACCO.*BROUGHT INTO THE COLONY FROM CANTON.

A Chinese passenger landing from the s.s. Venezia on its return here from Canton yesterday was discovered by Revenue Officers as a smuggler of tobacco, some 30 lbs being found concealed in a bundle of bedding he had slung from his shoulder.

The man was fined $100, or six weeks, on appearing before Mr. Grantham at the Central Police Court this morning.

no part in these. He made his followers take an oath of non-resistance, and he sought to put into effect the weapons he had used in South Africa, the strike and the boycott.

Soon he had organized a great campaign throughout India. His followers refused to participate in any British governmental processes. They boycotted the British courts, lawyers agreeing to settle their suits by voluntary arbitration. They gave up their titles of honour, refused to accept civil or military posts under the British, boycotted Government schools, and undertook to encourage all Indians to spin their own cotton cloth instead of buying cloth from British mills.

In 1922 Gandhi was arrested, charged with instigating the overthrow of the Government and was sent to prison. There his hunger strikes, and the hold which he had on the Indian masses, made him a problem, and in the course of time he was set free.

Gandhi plunged to work and regained his old influence. For some time his followers entertained hopes that Britain, at the close of the 10-year-period, would grant full Dominion status. When it became evident that this was not to be the case immediately, the independence resolution was drawn up.

In person, Gandhi is extremely frail, almost wizened. Early in life he gave up all of his property because of his religious convictions, and his ordinary dress in India is a simple loin cloth and turban.

For scientific purposes, continuation of tapping will be allowed over an area of 290 hectares in the East Coast of Sumatra. —Reuter.

WAR OUTLOOK IN THE NORTH.*NATIONALIST ADVANTAGE IN AIR FORCE.*MUKDEN NEUTRAL.

Canton, May 3. News reaches here that Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang and Yen Hsi-shan are rushing things as much as possible in the North. They are greatly hindered at present by their financial situation, but they are doing everything possible to raise funds to meet the huge expenses involved in their anti-Nanking campaign.

Enormous orders have been placed with the Shansi Arsenal and special machinery and expert workmen are being imported from Japan in order to increase the output of the Chengchow Arsenal. Meanwhile the Nationalist forces and the heads of the Government are confident of swift victory and the quick suppression of the rebels.

A considerable amount of fighting has taken place already, but neither side has gained a decisive victory. The Nationalists do not seem to be pressing hard at present; they are rather sitting back and waiting for the main offensive of the Kuominchun-Shansi troops.

In Manchuria, a number of Generals and their armies are maintaining neutrality for the present, waiting to see which way the things will go, thereby being sure of being on the winning side and participate in the fruits of victory.

The Nationalist forces are well equipped. They have a big advantage over the rebels in the possession of a very efficient Air Force; the 1st Squadron of which is at present at Hankow, the 3rd at Sin Yang Chow and the 4th at Hsuehchow.—Our Own Correspondent.

Chiang's Oath.

Nanking, May 3. An oath in writing by Chiang Kai-shek to lead an expedition against the Northerners was released for publication last night. It is believed that it portends that major military operations are to commence shortly.—Reuter.

Sowing Discord.

Peking, May 3. The Chinese authorities declare that the report concerning Wan Hsuan-tsai is without foundation. Feng Yu-hsiang has not appointed Sun Liang-chen as Governor of Honan.

The report is characterised as an attempt to sow discord between Yen Hsi-shan and Feng Yu-hsiang, but the "ties of friendship between them are very strong and cannot be alienated."—Reuter.

[It was reported that Wan Hsuan-tsai, who was appointed Governor of Honan by Yen Hsi-shan, had tendered his resignation in view of the fact that Sun Liang-sing, whom Feng Yu-hsiang appointed to the same post, had taken the reins of Government entirely into his own hands.]

WOMAN HIT WITH A POLE.*ARM FRACTURED BY A CHINESE.

What was described as extraordinary conduct was exhibited by a Chinese during a dispute with a woman at a building site opposite the Police Training School on April 12, when the man struck the woman across the arm with a pole, fracturing the limb and necessitating her detention in Hospital for about three months.

When the incident was mentioned before Mr. Whyte Smith at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning the man was charged with causing grievous bodily harm and sentenced to one month's hard labour.

Sub-Inspector Hourihan informed his Worship that the complainant had apparently knocked over some of the defendant's brickwork and he had struck her with a pole, causing a fracture to her arm. She had been in Hospital since April 12 and according to the medical officer would have to remain under treatment for three months.

His Worship described the defendant's conduct as being extraordinary and remarked that the blow must have been a very savage one. The complainant was awarded $50 compensation but she intimated that as the defendant was unable to pay, the alternative of one month's imprisonment for such a serious offence, was not sufficient.

His Worship remarked that he did not want to award compensation if the complainant was dissatisfied and advised her to take legal advice on the point.

The defendant was then sentenced to one month's hard labour on the charge of assault.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.*REGINALD DENNY MAKES BIG HIT.

Reginald Denny scores an instantaneous hit in "One Hysterical Night," the first talkie in which he has appeared before a Hongkong audience. With its many droll situations, the picture makes no other claim than being a vehicle for pure fun, and this is well sustained in a story centred around the doings at a costume ball one hectic night.

Reginald in the role of an heir to a vast fortune, finds himself in a mass of complications brought about by scheming relatives. How he extricates himself and incidentally wins his bride, furnishes one of the best comedies in which he has starred, and which has to be seen to be appreciated.

With two short talkie comedies and an animated cartoon, "One Hysterical Night" is being shown to-day and to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre.

YOU ARE JUST AS OLD AS YOU FEEL.

By Toning Up the Blood and Nerves

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Keep You Feeling Young and Vigorous.

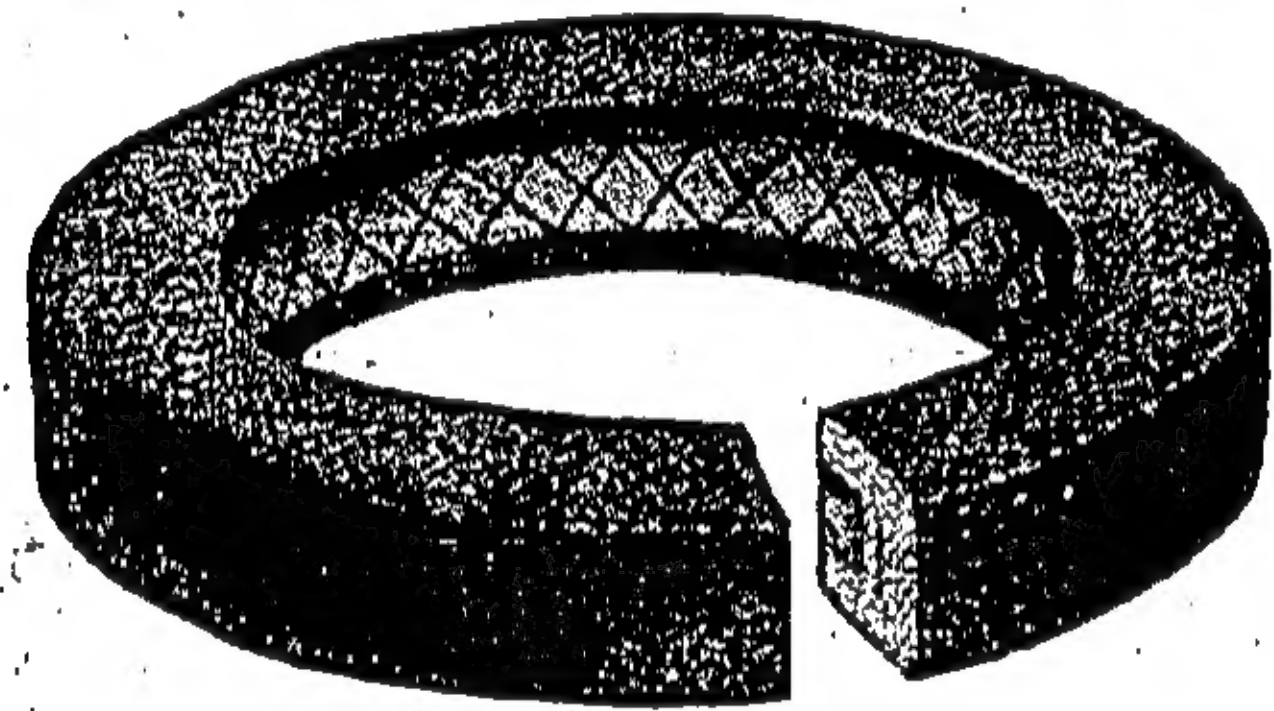

The surest way to remain young is to take care of the condition of one's blood and arteries. Good blood and plenty of it is the secret of health and vigor at every period of life. So long as your blood is pure and rich you need not worry, no matter how many years you may have seen.

Hardening of the arteries, or arterio-sclerosis—the most significant indication that old age is at hand—can be delayed, or held in check if already apparent, by improving the quality and quantity of the blood stream. And to do this the best way is to take a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, these Pills being wonderful in their purifying, enriching action on the blood, and revivifying effect upon the nerves and whole system.

With many women old age seems to begin soon after the "change of life." Here again Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are of the utmost value, because the unique help they give enables women to pass through that trying period safely and with the minimum of distress and suffering.

For five-and-forty years Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been world-famous as a Blood Builder and Nerve Tonic. It may truly be said of them that they make new, red blood at every dose. A few days' trial will convince any sufferer from blood or nerve disorders of their remarkable strengthening, revitalizing, curative merits. Your chemist can supply them, but be sure to insist on having Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, refusing substitutes, for nothing else is "just the same," or "just as good."

All fixtures will be played on the courts at Sookunpo, unless arranged, owing to the condition of those courts, on a ground mutually agreed upon. Teams will consist of three pairs, who will play the opposing three pairs of each team, for one 'long set'. The team winning the majority of the nine sets in each match will receive one point.

On the Kowloon side, entries have been received from 20th Battery, R.A., 31st Battery, R.A., Royal Signals, and the following teams from the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, Headquarters Wing—3 teams, "A" Company—one team, "B" Company—two teams, and "D" Company—one team.

This week's fixtures at Sookunpo are as follows: To-day, "B" Company, S.L.I. v. "C" Company, S.L.I. To-morrow, "D" Company, S.L.I. v. R.A.S.C. Wednesday, R.A.P.C. v. R.A.M.C. Thursday, R.A.O.C. v. 12th Battery, R.A. Friday, 40th Company, R.E. v. R.E. Services.

Last Week's Billiards. A billiards match between the Royal Engineers and St. Patrick's Club, on Thursday night, resulted in the latter winning by 84 points. Six games of 150 up were played, the "Paddies" winning four and losing two, there being only 19 points between the teams when the fourth game had been played. Pollard, of the Engineers, was thought to have good chances of defeating Cruz, of St. Patrick's, but although he made a break of 33, the balls did not run kindly for him, and he scored only 11. Maynard made only 124 against Pile, though he played a very safe and consistent game. Scores were:

R.E.	St. Patrick's.
Peachey, 150	Nuttall, 99
Walton, 109	E. Remedios, 180
Smith, 87	L. E. Remedios, 150

On Friday night, in the Soldiers' Club, the junior ranks of the R.A.O.C. defeated the junior ranks of the R.A.S.C. by 178 points in six games of 150 up. The Ordnance won five of the games, the first by almost 100, and, when Funnell and Slack began in the fifth and sixth games, they had to win by an almost ridiculous margin to put their side on top. Funnell failed by twelve points to win his game, but Slack accounted for his opponent by 43 points. The only break of note was a 26 and a 23 by Turner, and a 23 by Rodmond. The complete scores were:

R.A.O.C.	R.A.S.C.
Jackson, 150	Chambers, 57
Rodmond, 150	Barnstaple, 31

AUSTRALIANS MEET LEICESTER.

GRIMMETT JUST MISSES "HAT TRICK."

C. V. Grimmett, upon whom much will depend in the forthcoming Test matches, was the outstanding player on the first day of the match between Leicester and the Australian tourists, who have opened well against the English counties.

Leicester batted first and made an excellent start, the first wicket partnership between Shipman and Berry yielding 103 before they were separated, but after that Grimmett came to his own and soon had the side dismissed. At one stage during the game he only missed performing the "hat trick" taking three wickets with four balls without conceding a run.

Shipman and Berry treated the Australian bowling with scant respect and 103 appeared on the board before the tourists met with any success. After the fall of the first wicket there was a regular procession and the remaining batsmen could only knock up 43 runs between them, the innings closing for 148. Shipman contributed 63 and Berry 50. After being 103 for one the English country's score was 131 for six. Grimmett, the South Australian bowler, captured seven wickets for 46 runs.

At the close of play the Australians had scored 50 runs for the loss of two wickets.—Reuter.

LAWN BOWLS.

K.C.C. WIN IN BOTH DIVISIONS.

The opening of the Lawn Bowls season was not favoured by ideal weather conditions although the intermittent drizzle during the afternoon did not prevent the games from being finished. The full programme was carried out with the exception of but one match in the Second Division, this being between the Taikoo R. C. and the Yacht Club.

HOME FOOTBALL CONCLUDES.

EVERTON FOR SECOND DIVISION.

Champions of the country in the seasons 1890-91, 1914-15, and 1927-28, Everton Town who have been one of the pioneers of the First Division of the English Football League will appear for the first time in the history of the Club in the Second Division when the season opens again after four months' interval. The famous Everton team have also appeared in the final of the Cup on four occasions, winning the trophy in 1905-6 for the first and only time.

Burnley accompany Everton down to the Second Division, Sheffield United managing to escape relegation by a better goal average. A very peculiar feature of the final matches was that all the six teams at the bottom of the table secured full points in their games.

Goal average played a very important role in relegation in the Second Division where Hull and Bristol City finished with the same number of points as Notts. County and Reading but lost their places. Chelsea qualified for the First Division, although they lost to Burnley. Oldham lost their chance of promotion by suffering defeat at Barnsley.

Plymouth and Port Vale gain promotion from the Southern and Northern sections, while Gillingham and Merthyr in the South and Halifax and Barrow in the North will have to apply for re-election.

Murder Backstairs

ANNE AUSTIN AUTHOR OF
"THE AVENUE" AND
"THE BLACK PIGEON," ETC.

CHAPTER XXXV.

"Less than five minutes," Mrs. Lambert answered. "I made a note of the engagement on Mrs. Berkeley's calendar, glanced over two or three belated acceptances for the dance which was to follow the dinner to-night and added the names to the list of guests."

"Did you go into Mrs. Berkeley's bathroom or bedroom for any reason whatever?" Dundee asked, only the glint of his blue eyes betraying his excitement.

"No," I was in the sitting room only."

"Did you hear anything at all while you were at work there?"

"Nothing whatever," Mrs. Lambert answered positively.

"Was the door open into the foyer between the rooms?"

"Mrs. Lambert knit her brows, then shook her head. 'I'm sorry, but I can't remember. I was in rather a hurry, partly because I wanted to be finished with the work before Mrs. Berkeley came upstairs and partly because I was very tired.'"

"You wanted to avoid Mrs. Berkeley?" Dundee suggested.

"Avoid is scarcely the word," Mrs. Lambert answered coldly. "I suspected that the interview in the library between Mr. and Mrs. Berkeley concerned Clorinda's engagement to Mr. Crosby and I was too tired to hear a possibly hysterical account of it. I knew, too, that Mrs. Berkeley needed sleep, more than she needed a confidante."

"Mrs. Lambert, have you been happy here at Hillcrest?" Dundee asked gently.

"It was Giggie climbing back into the social secretary's lap, who answered for her: 'Don't be an idiot, Bonnie Dundee! Do you think a 'great lady' like my darling Giggie would be happy working for another woman, when she'd never had to take orders before in her life?'"

"I have been happy—on the whole," Mrs. Lambert answered for herself, her arms closing almost convulsively about the small body curling itself contentedly in her lap.

"You did not see Doris again?" She did not come to Mrs. Berkeley's rooms while you were there?" Dundee went on.

"No," I saw no one as I left Mrs. Berkeley's rooms and returned to my own, but I did catch a glimpse of a silk bath scarf fluttering over the balustrade of the stairs when I opened Mrs. Berkeley's sitting room door," Mrs. Lambert answered reluctantly. "I recognized the scarf as Clorinda's and told myself that she was going out for a walk. Since Clorinda has told me that you know all about it, I can't believe I have harmed her at all by mentioning the fact."

"Not in the least," Dundee agreed. "But please, Mrs. Lambert, don't let any such considerations keep you from telling anything and everything that may help us to learn the whole truth about Doris's murder. Did you see anyone else at all, either as you returned to your room, or afterwards?"

"No one," Mrs. Lambert answered firmly. "I finished reading the letter from my friend and went to bed, within 10 minutes."

"You heard no one running down the hall?" Dundee persisted.

"Nothing of the sort. But the hall is very thickly carpeted."

"The servants' stairs are at the end of the hall, just beyond your room, are they not?" Dundee asked.

"Yes. The flight leading up to the third floor is very near my room, but the flight leading down to the back hall is nearer to the now untenanted guest room opposite my room. Those stairs are not carpeted, but the servants are all required to wear rubber heels while on duty."

"Then you did not hear Doris descending from the third floor a few minutes after you returned to your room?"

"No. But I was in my bathroom, taking a bath, within two or three minutes after my return. That is, I began to run the water immediately, and when the tub was full, finished reading my letter as I lay in the warm water. Even if I had been in my bedroom, I doubt if I should have heard Doris, since the walls and doors are very thick—practically sound proof."

"I see," Dundee agreed, more disappointed than he wished her to know. "Have you anything else to add, Mrs. Lambert?"

"Nothing to add," she replied quietly. "But I want to emphasize what I said before: no solution of the tragedy which in any way reflects on Doris's character or loyalty will be the true solution."

"I am sure of that, Mrs. Lambert," Dundee answered sincerely. "You may go, and—thank you very much. You have been more courteous and patient, I am sure, than you think I deserve. But I want you to know that I have not been asking irrelevant questions out of vicious or idle curiosity."

Mrs. Lambert smiled at him suddenly out of a mist of tears and held out her hand.

"One other thing," he detained her. "May I borrow your typewriter to transcribe my notes?"

She flushed slightly. "I am afraid I shall need it, but Mr. Berkeley has a machine in his room which he seldom uses. I am sure he will be glad to lend it to you for as long as you need it."

"I'll show you where it is!" Giggie cried.

The three of them ascended the stairs together, Giggie in the middle, impartially swinging a hand of each.

"I thought you were never coming, Mrs. Lambert!" Mrs. Berkeley called reproachfully from her sitting room door. "My telephone has been ringing constantly. Somehow those dreadful reporters have got hold of my private, unlisted number and they've been driving me crazy. Just to get rid of them I've promised them all an interview at four o'clock and we must hurry to get up a written statement for them, listing my stolen jewels, and—"

Mrs. Lambert, murmuring apologies, joined her employer and the sitting room door closed upon them.

Giggie ran up the hall to her father's door and knocked blithely. "Isn't in!" she announced to Dundee. "But come along! It'll be all right."

The detective obeyed, stepping into a spacious but rather severely furnished room. Two broad windows gave a view of the landscaped front lawn and a third looked out upon the rolling, grass-carpeted slopes to the west of the house.

"Dad's a pretty good stenographer himself," Giggie bragged, beckoning Dundee to a large, old-fashioned secretary, upon the open leaf of which rested a portable typewriter.

Rolling into the carriage of the machine were two pieces of blank white paper, with a sheet of purple carbon between.

"Here's a bunch of typewriter paper," Giggie offered, jerking open a drawer and appropriating at least 50 sheets of the good plain bond. "Need anything else?" Carbon paper?"

"This sheet in the machine will be enough," Dundee assured her. "What's this? Another of your father's patent lighter-filling machines?"

"Yes," Giggie laughed. "Funny Dad should choose one in the shape of a whiskey barrel, isn't it? See the XXX? But see also the skull and crossbones below, to warn you that the liquor this little barrel holds is most awful poison!"

Ready? I'm going with you and watch you work."

"No, you're not!" Dundee corrected her positively. "Go roll a hoop, infant!"

"I think you're mean!" Giggie sulked, but she was grinning cheerfully again when he firmly shut his own door between them.

His room, which was really Dick Berkeley's study, was a pleasant place, with the afternoon sun flooding it and a crisp breeze stirring the wool-embroidered pongee curtains. Although he was eager to get to work, Dundee stepped to one of the broad, low windows and looked out upon the beautifully kept front lawn, breathing deep of the tangy autumn air. Those were literally his first deep, lazy breaths since the body of Doris Matthews had been discovered in the lake that morning.

Suddenly he leaned farther out of the window, surprised at the sight of two figures slowly approaching from the west side of the house. A big, splendidly built man and a slighter, younger one, both in tennis flannels, both swinging rackets as they walked and talked together, in apparent good-fellowship. George Berkeley and his son, Dick!

"Well, if this tragedy has brought them closer together, that's something to the good anyway," Dundee commented to himself, as he prepared to set to work.

He opened Dick's desk, set Mr. Berkeley's portable typewriter upon it, arranged his sheaf of notes on one side of the machine and the pad of confiscated paper upon the other.

About to head the paper he had found in the machine with the words, Mrs. Berkeley's Story, he happened to look at the edge of the carbon paper projecting slightly from the edge of the two sheets of white paper. The carbon paper was turned wrong side up, so that if he had written, the second sheet would have been blank. Rolling the three sheets out of the machine, he was about to reverse the carbon when he noticed that it had been used but once and that only the date, heading and five lines of an unfinished letter had cut into its gleaming purple surface. He glanced at the reverse printing casually.

Suddenly he uttered a sharp exclamation, then dashed to the bathroom. Standing before the mirror,

Hillcrest,
Sept. 27, 1927.

Mr. C. E. Atwood,
Attorney-at-Law,
Greene Building,
Hamilton.

Dear Chris:—

There is a small matter which I wish you would handle for me personally, in strictest confidence. As if it were for yourself, I should like you to investigate the commercial possibilities of a small beauty shop or beauty parlor on a good block in Hamilton, getting an estimate of the cost of Dundee whistled, long and low. Here was the answer to at least one of the perplexing questions which Doris's last letter had raised. It was George Berkeley she had meant when she wrote: "It will take buckets of money, of course, but I know where I can get all or more than I need."

Why should George Berkeley be willing to finance a beauty parlor for a girl who had been in his employ less than two months? A girl who had, innocently or not, captured the love of his only son?

And the date of Berkeley's letter to his lawyer was Sept. 27—Friday. The day Doris Matthews was murdered. Why had George Berkeley not finished that letter?

CINEMA NOTES.

RONALD COLMAN IN "CONDEMNED."

Two cars were wrecked, and a motorcycle policeman had to be persuaded to put away his pencil and lend his motorcycle before Samuel Goldwyn's property man could hang up a new time recorded for fast work in providing a pair of balloon silk waders for Louis Wolheim to wear in the swamp scenes of "Condemned," the new Ronald Colman starring picture, which comes to the Queen's Theatre on Wednesday.

Colman and Wolheim were in the water for days, off and on, in these scenes, and Colman finally refused to go on with the picture until Wolheim was provided with the same silk protection on his legs as had been provided for himself. The over-worked property man departed, broke into the studios five miles away, got the necessary waders and returned in the record time of 42 minutes, after the catastrophes aforesaid. With production time at $150.00 per hour, Hollywood property men work fast.

Another New York playwright who has come to devote himself permanently to working with talking pictures is Sidney Howard, who adapted the scenario of "Condemned," the new Ronald Colman starring picture which Samuel Goldwyn brings to the Queen's Theatre on Wednesday. "Condemned" is the third Goldwyn picture in which Mr. Howard has had a hand, the other two being "Bulldog Drummond" for Ronald Colman and "This Is Heaven" for Vilma Banky.

"Convoy" at the Majestic.

Presenting a spectacular scenes of the Battle of the North Sea and tracing through reels of pulsating action a history of the Navy at War, "Convoy," which opened last night at the Majestic Theatre, Kowloon is truly the greatest of naval moving pictures ever made.

Unfolding along with the thrilling tale of the Navy's service, a romance that is so vivid and true and touching it brought tears to many eyes. The epic film has the story, star and setting combination that insures top-notch hit.

Dorothy Mackaill, Lowell Sherman, Lawrence Gray, Buster Collier and Ian Keith head an excellent cast. The work of each far outshone anything they have ever done before.

Joe Boyle directed that picture, which was based on John Taintor Foote's story, "The Song of the Dragon." Filmed with the cooperation of the United States

The danger of Improper Feeding

BABIES are frequently overfed. Their capacity for food is very small—at birth 1 oz. milk at 2 months 3 oz. Remember! It is the amount of food digested that nourishes.

Do not feed Baby just because he cries—probably the reason is indigestion from overfeeding, not hunger. It is important to get the nature of the food right as well as the quantity.

Doctors and Nurses throughout the world recommend

The best alternative to human milk.

SATURDAY'S SPORTS MEETINGS.

SCHOOL AND SERVICE EVENTS.

The week-end saw three successful athletic meetings, one a Service event and two in connexion with local schools.

A large attendance, in spite of the not altogether ideal weather conditions, saw the conclusion of the Hongkong Area Athletic Meeting on Saturday afternoon at Sookunpo. Amongst those present were Mrs. Southern, accompanied by Captain Swayne, A.D.C. to the Officer Administering the Government, the General Officer Commanding, the Troops in China (H. E. Major-General J. W. Sandilands, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O.), Mr. R. M. Dyer, and a number of the senior military officers in addition to those serving in various capacities as officials at the meeting.

The Inter-Unit Athletics Cup was deservedly won by the 3/15 Punjab Regiment, with 61½ points, the 1st Bn. Somerset Light Infantry Other second with 59½ points. Other scorers were—Royal Artillery, 45½ points, I.K.S. Bde, Royal Artillery, 43½ points, 2nd Bn. Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, 38 points, and Royal Corps of Sig. als, 4 points. Scoring was 6 points for a win in each event, 5 points for second place, and 4, 3, 2 and 1 point for subsequent placings. At the tea interval, it was seen that if the Punjabis could only get placed third or fourth in two events, they would then be Cup, although by the Somersets, who took only four points in the Tug-of-War where points were given at 10, 8, 6, 4, and 2. Had the points been given for this event in the same way as in the others, the Somersets would have lost the Cup by one point, as that the different scoring made no difference to the result.

Events Described.

The first event on Saturday was the high jump, where good jumping saw four out of eight still jumping at 5 feet, 3 inches. One by one, failures were recorded, and the event went to the Punjabis, with a combined jump of 10 feet, 5 inches.

The half-mile relay saw the Argyll's first string take the lead, only for the Somerset man to get ahead before handing over, the second string making more ground, and being almost 120 yards in front, for the third string to increase this by about 30 yards. The Somerset last man won comfortably by about 150 yards, but special mention must be made of the Punjab last man (Nalk Sirdar Singh) who made up a lot of ground in the last lap to get second place. The Somerset's team was composed of—Bdsmn. Mackenzie, Ptes. Parris, Childs and Rowsell.

The 220 yards relay saw the Somersets leading from the Punjabis at the first string, with the Punjabis, Artillery and Somersets very close together at the end of the second string. That order was maintained at the end of the third string, but Gill, of the Gunners, made determined efforts to gain on the Punjabis' last man, to be beaten by a yard or so. The Somersets were well-placed at third. The Punjabis team was—Lath Singh, Kartar Singh, Gobinda, and Baldev Singh.

The Somerset boys won the Enlisted Boys 220 yards relay, with the R.A. second, and the Argyll boys third. The time, one minute 53 seconds, was quite good considering the state of the track. The Somerset boys were—Boys Barton, Roots, Cotter and Lambert.

The Tug-of-War, to determine the third place, between the losing finalists, was won by the Argylls, who pulled the Somersets fairly easily in the first pull, but lost a good second pull, to win the final heave, and to obtain six points.

After the tea interval, the 100 yards relay was run off, the Somersets annexing full points, though only just winning from the R.A. Gill once more made a fine effort to pull his team through in the last string, but had too much to make up. The Somerset team was—L/Cpl. Neil, Ptes. Butcher, Kerle and Gillard. In the Putting the Shot, the Somersets obtained full marks once more, and hopes were high that they might, even then, wrest the Cup from the Punjabis. L/Cpl. Perkins, and Q. M. S. Naylor totalled 69 feet and half an inch from their combined putts, the Argylls being second with 67 feet 5 inches, and the Punjabis nearly two feet less.

The 440 yards relay provided a good win for the Gunners, the Somersets leading until the last 120 yards, where Gill came away with a fine burst of speed to win by about ten yards. His performance was extremely good, as he had a lot of time to make up before challenging the leader. The time, 3 minutes 42 seconds, was also very good. The Gunners' team was—Lewis, Whitehall, Greenwood and Gill.

The Open Mile.

There were fourteen entries in the one mile open race, the Navy and R.A.F. being both represented. The Air Force runner took the lead for a long time, but was passed during the third lap, and the Punjabis took all three places. Hakim Khan, Jhaupri and Mangal Singh were first, second and third respectively.

The long jump brought forth some good jumping on a slippery take-off, and was won by the Somersets, with a combined jump of 37 feet, 2 inches. The Artillery were second, with the Punjabis a good third.

The 120 yards hurdles relay was disappointing, owing to adverse weather conditions. Many hurdles were knocked down, or blown down by the wind. Notwithstanding these handicaps, the time of 20 seconds each, was better than moderate. The Somersets won from the Gunners and the Punjabis, their team being L/Cpl. Neil, Ptes. Rendale, Hill and Lilley.

The Pole Jump, with a slippery take-off, was won by the Punjabis and the H. K. S. Gunners, who tied for first place with jumps of 18 feet 3 inches, the Somersets and Gunners tying for next place with three inches less. Attempts were made to jump 8 feet 8 inches, but all the finalists failed at this. The Punjabis pair were—Kartar Singh and Raghi Nath.

Before the last event, the final of the Tug-of-War, was held, it was seen that the Punjabis were leading from the Somersets. It depended whether they won or lost, gaining ten points or eight, as to whether they won the Cup by four or two points. They found the H. K. S. Gunners too strong, and they tried hard in the second pull to get away, they were soon pulled back and over the line. The Gunners' team was—Sher Khan, Sher Zama, Darshan Singh, Ahmed Khan, Chanan Khan, Rattan Singh, Sher Muid, Udhum Singh, Maghar Singh, Pharan Singh, Hari Singh and Lal Khan.

At the conclusion, the prizes and trophies were presented by His Excellency Major-General Sandilands.
